

We are looking for:

Head of Communication

Saule Technologies is a high-tech company that develops innovative solar modules based on perovskite cells. We have pioneered the use of inkjet printing for the production of flexible, lightweight, ultrathin, and semi-transparent photovoltaic devices. This innovative solution of photovoltaics 2.0. allows to generate energy from both the sun and artificial light.

RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Set high-level communications strategy for both internal and external communications needs, and execute campaigns that highlight the strength of our business.
- Set the social strategy for organic and owned channels and build campaigns and content approaches to build awareness and community with Saule's customers and key audience groups.
- Identify and build out communications materials including press pitches, press releases, blogs, talking points and speeches/presentations for executives which speak to the state of the company.
- Build and maintain strong working relationships with key media across national, technology, and local media.
- Work with multiple stakeholders across the organization to support key company objectives, including the senior leadership team - by leveraging, shaping and better articulating our value proposition across all channels and projects.
- Develop written materials, including company messaging and statements, communications plans, FAQs, and other collateral for both internal communications and external communication programs.
- Collaborate with content, creative and product marketing team members to maintain a consistent brand voice and message across all programs.
- Manage and coach a team tasked with planning and executing the communication strategy of Saule.

REQUIREMENTS:

- Excellent command of English and Polish language.
- Proven professional track record in communications and/or public relations.
- Demonstrated leadership skills and passion to continue to nurture and build a team, developing the next generation of leaders.
- On-the-record experience with financial and business media outlets required; efforts managing communications campaigns around fundraising cycles, or other financial events preferred.
- Excellent writing skills with the ability to draft and package top-notch content on rapid deadlines.
- Self-starter who can balance multiple priorities simultaneously, able to work within tight deadlines, establish clear priorities and maintain professionalism under pressure.

- High alignment with our brand values, mission and belief in our potential; need to be able to authentically bring top media along with us on our journey.
- Demonstrated ability to partner effectively across the organization.
- Must have a positive attitude.
